BioWorld is a global supplier of life sciences and biotechnology products for research, including affinity chromatography, molecular biology, cell culture and microbiology. Our catalog has over 14,000 SKUs. This includes our featured bioPlus product line with thousands of SKUs that we manufacture and package in our lab facility. Our ever growing list of products is adapted to meet the dynamic needs of our customers. Our product strategy is to have depth in areas where we offer unique and highly competitive products while adding in the breadth to fill complete orders for our customer labs. We fill out our catalog with best of breed products from leading global vendors to enable competitive one-stop shopping within the research areas we service. bioWorld has created a large set of packaged kits (bioKits) to enable scientists to rapidly perform error-free and reproducible studies.
